ROGER DE MAREZ

dear customer

HACO started in 1965 as a small Flemish family-owned business serving local industrial companies. From the very beginning, our principal goal was to understand the needs and requirements of our customers and to provide for them better than anyone else does.

This approach has remained unchanged throughout our history. It is just as true today in the International Group we have grown into as it was the first day we opened our doors. We aim to create long-term partnerships with each of our customers, all over the world. We continue to accomplish this by offering them the widest range of machines with the best price-to-quality ratio found anywhere and by assuring reliable maintenance support and fast response through local branches.

We are the industry specialists in those sectors where we participate. When one of our clients has a special problem, we take pride in being able to come up with exactly the right solution. But this specialization has not kept us from diversifying. Today, our products are renowned around the globe. From professional woodworking, sheet metal working, and aluminum milling machines to machine controls and surfacing installations, our products are top-rated in their field.

We hope that this brochure will give you a better idea of the full scope of all HACO activities and professional equipment. Enjoy discovering what the complete line of HACO products and services can do for you and how it will improve your company's productivity and quality.

ROGER DE MAREZ AND ROGIER HAVEGEER CO-PRESIDENTS

EXTRAORDINARY EVOLUTION IN A VERY SHORT PERIOD

> 1965

Rogier Havegeer and Roger De Marez start their own company producing hydraulic components and providing maintenance and repair services. It was the initial seed from which the worldwide HACO Group NV and its related companies have grown.

1965 > 1972

The business grows steadily, evolving from a Flemish family-owned, locally anchored business into an international organization.

> 1972

HACO develops a sheet metal guillotine shear and takes its first steps as a machine builder. This turns out to be an important step towards diversification and specialization.

1972 > 1985

HACO continues its move into machine building, specializing in a few carefully selected types of machines, and focuses on internationalization and expansion of capacity.

> 1985

HACO founds ROBOSOFT for developing and manufacturing hardware and software for CNC controls. This marks the creation of the Group's second pillar, electronics, standing alongside machine building.

> 1986

HACO takes over BRET in France. This specialist in mechanical and die forging presses opens a new path for HACO in the automobile industry, production of consumer goods, and a huge variety of other opportunities.

> 1987

HACO takes over SCMB BLISS in France. This completes our full press offering with the addition of hydraulic presses. From this point on, HACO has a solution for all your press requirements.

> 1991

HACO acquires Kingsland. This acquisition adds hydraulic multi-purpose steel working machines to HACO's offering. HACO machines can now be found in virtually every workshop.

> 1993

HACO adds OMES Italy to the Group, introducing CNC punching machines to HACO's offering. Short production times and enormous flexibility are the trademark of these machines.

Take-over of the French GUILLET/CHAMBON enlarges the range of woodworking machines.

NORMATIC-France joins the group and strengthens the press division by adding different automation and peripherals to it.

> 1996

Acquisition of MUBEA SYSTEMS completes its offering of multi-purpose steel working machines, and customer designed drilling, punching and cutting lines.

> 1999

FAT Poland becomes a part of HACO with affordable lathes and milling machines. Easy to operate thanks to the teach-in controls, and suited for machining a wide variety of different materials.

> 2000

HACO takes over LSP Slovakia, enlarging HACO's offering of press brakes and shears, and expanding the Eastern European presence of our company.

> 2003

A new branch office in Ningbo China is set up to strengthen the Far East customer relations.
